

Places of historical interest include:

- Cambridge – universities and museums : daily market
- Norwich – Castle Museum and Cathedral: daily market
- Bury St. Edmunds – Abbey ruins and Moyses Hall Museum: market Wed. and Sat.
- Newmarket – The National Stud and The National Horseracing Museum. The Home of Racing
- Ely – Cathedral and various museums including Oliver Cromwell's House : market Thurs. and Sat.
- National Trust properties such as Felbrigg Hall, Blickling Hall

General interest:

- Coastal towns of Hunstanton, Cromer, Gt. Yarmouth, Lowestoft, Frinton, and everything in between, most with wide sandy beaches and safe sea bathing (please take local advice whenever available).

Places to go

The Visitor Centre for Lakenheath Fen RSPB reserve is a must for bird watchers, as the reserve boasts several kinds of rare birds. Information is available there as to the best places to spot these birds. Wicken Fen (National Trust)

- Welney Wash (Wildfowl and Wetlands Trust)
- Minsmere (RSPB)
- Thetford Forest Park (Forestry Commission)
- West Stow Country Park and Anglo-Saxon Village

Join on Site or try before you buy. For site fees see tariff insert.

Membership costs just £36.00 per year (plus a £10 joining fee that's waived if you pay by Direct Debit). 03/2010

The Paddock Caravan Site Sedge Fen

The Paddock
43a Sedge Fen
Lakenheath
Suffolk
IP27 9LG
Tel 01353 720755
Tel or Text 07872694014
thepaddock@sedgefen.co.uk
www.sedgefen.co.uk

The Site offers basic facilities for Camping and Caravan Club members with 5 pitches for caravans and space for tents on a level, grassed paddock in a quiet corner of the Fens. 4 Miles from Lakenheath offering a church, pubs, Co Op store, Chinese take away, fish and chips etc.

About the Site

Approx. 1 acre of level grassland opened in 2007, the site has basic facilities. 3 electrical hook-ups are available on site. Please call for availability.

With mature, thick hedges on the west and south sides, giving shelter from the prevailing winds, and willows to the east there is plenty of cover for the 25 varieties of birds, at least, on site.

There is opportunity for walking in the area, mostly using farm tracks that are not designated public footpaths but which sensible walkers are welcome to use

The nearby public footpath, a few minutes away from the site, takes you either to the village of Lakenheath (about 4 miles) or to a footpath which runs through the RSPB Lakenheath Fen reserve.

Entry to the reserve is over a footbridge, some 10-20 minutes walk along the bank of the waterway bordering the reserve. Although there is no age limit, please note that, although there is plenty of space, the site is not child friendly as there is a typical fenland dyke close by - deep, muddy, steep-sided, dangerous for the young, and inexperienced.

The nearby Air force base at Lakenheath provides dramatic, if sometimes noisy, entertainment periodically throughout the day when operational. Thankfully, night flying is very uncommon and most days there are no flights overhead at all.

Directions

From Lakenheath, take the turning signposted "Sedge Fen", near the Half Moon Pub (in the High Street). Follow the signs to the Sedge Fen Baptist Church. At the corner near the church, turn right so that you pass the church on your left. Follow the single-track road round a sharp left hand bend (about half a mile) to The Paddock. The entrance to the site is straight in front of you. If travelling from the A1101 Littleport/Mildenhall road, follow signs to Sedge Fen Baptist Church - the turning is 1 mile south of Shippea Hill railway station.

